Pastor's Corner

Dear Parishioners,

We're continuing with our theme of "Respect" this Sunday as we demonstrate some more examples of groups in the parish that witness to that virtue. So in the welcome area we have displays hosted by the Helpers of St. Anne & Joachim who sponsor the weekly soup kitchen program at Star of the Sea Hall on Tuesdays; the Culture of Life group that promotes pro-life issues and activities in the parish; the Library service which is open daily for all to make use of; and the Martha group that hosts the funeral receptions for the bereaved families after the funeral Mass is over. All these groups provide a service to the parish that is rooted in the Gospel imperative to serve the needs of others with the gifts of our time and energy and resources. And of course, each of these groups is happy to welcome new volunteers.

I spoke with our group of adults in the RCIA this past Wednesday and shared with them on the theme of the liturgy of the Church. I used my book that has all the documents produced by the 2nd Vatican Council, and showed them that the first one published was the "Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy" back in 1963. I quoted a few lines from the beginning of the document that provides the basis for our efforts today, ie.

"in order that the liturgy (of the Mass) may be able to produce its full effects it is necessary that the faithful come to it with proper dispositions, that their minds be attuned to their voices, and that they cooperate with heavenly grace lest they receive it in vain."

And then there's my job as a pastor also being given a reminder, ie "It is their duty also to ensure that the faithful take part fully aware of what they are doing, actively engaged in the rite, and enriched by it."

Then our discussion touched on the challenges of these principles of liturgy in the Church, especially when so many come in late and hurried, without due care to settle and prepare for the Mass, and then having so many leaving during communion time, never waiting for the final blessing nor giving time for the celebrant and attendants to exit before the rush. It is happening in all three of our churches and it is a scandal to those who take seriously the teaching of the Church on attending with care the sacred liturgy, and especially to those who observe this kind of behavior as guests and interested would-be members of the Church.

Can we please take to heart the responsibility to be on time, to come prepared, and to stay until the end. It may be an effort to change our pre-Mass routine, but it is worth that effort believe me, and our attendance at Mass will bear greater fruit than ever.

Happy Advent!

Reflection for the Second Sunday of Advent Year C

Fr. Thomas Rosica, CSB ~ Dec 4, 2009 saltandlighttv.org

JOHN: THE PARADOX OF ADVENT ~ The true prophets of Israel help us in our struggle against all forms of duplicity. John the Baptist is the patron saint par excellence of authenticity. How often our words, thoughts and actions are incoherent! Combined in John the Baptist is the very paradox of Advent: the coming triumph of God manifest precisely in the darkness of the present evil age. John the Baptist heard, experienced and lived God's liberating word in the desert and was thus able to preach it to others so effectively because his life and message were one. He certainly didn't mince words. John the Baptist shatters the silence of the wilderness with his cry: "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven has come near." Not just "repent," change the way we live, but repent and prepare for the coming of the kingdom of heaven which will upset all our securities and overturn anything we try to leave in place. The joy and the challenge of Advent is that in Jesus Christ our God is coming, and our aching and longing for God will be met. But this God who comes is disturbing.

There was nothing politically correct about the Baptist's message. He got right to the point and said what needed to be said. He told the first people who came to him to share. He told the tax collectors to be just. He told the soldiers to make peace.

The Baptist taught the people of his day and our day that the Messiah comes to save us from the powers of duplicity, despair, darkness and death, and to put us back on the path of peace and reconciliation so that we might find our way back to God. John the Baptist's life and mission remind us how badly we need a Savior to save us, in order that we might be all that we are called to be and do all that we have to do to live in the Light. So often we fail to recognize the one among us who is our Way, our Truth and our Life. This is what Advent is all about: finding our way back to God.

THE TRANSFORMATION OF OUR DESERTS ~ Advent is a mystery that transforms and not simply informs. Advent remains with its paradoxical combination of waiting and hastening, suffering and joy, judgment and deliverance, apocalyptic woe and eschatological hope. Unfortunately for our culture of instant gratification, hope requires incompleteness. To hope, in the true Advent fashion, is to live with the certainty of unfulfilled desire.

Hope in God cannot stand still, because—as Isaiah reminds us, we hope in a God who is constantly doing a new thing. Does our hope in God hold fast in the face of chaos and confusion in our life? How do we live with the Word of God? How can we live with the silence of God?

Advent teaches us that if we are quiet in our hearts long enough, we will discover the God still carves out highways and turns the desert places of our lives into oases of wonder, life, beauty, even though nothing will be as we expected. Any transformation of the wilderness depends on water. Throughout the Old Testament God is spoken of as the one who gives or withholds water – an image easily understood by people for whom water is a precious and controlled commodity. Few of us in the First World have an idea of drought. Our water piped into our homes deprives us of an image of God as the one on whom our very existence depends; similarly, electricity deludes us in to thinking we have the darkness under control. Together they rob us of daily experiences that could give vibrancy to the Advent invitation to revisit our dependence on God, to revisit our desire for God and to discover through the night of waiting that God does indeed come.

The message of Advent is not that everything is falling to pieces. Nor is it that God is in heaven and all is therefore well with the world. Rather the message of Advent is that when every fixed star on the moral compass is wavering, when all hell is breaking loose on earth, we hear once again the Baptist's consoling message:

'Prepare the way for the Lord, make straight paths for him. Every valley shall be filled in, every mountain and hill made low. The crooked roads shall become straight, the rough ways smooth. And all people will see God's salvation.'

Luke 3: 4-6

Yet even with the birth of Jesus, we learn that Jerusalem and Israel still awaited their redemption. The world still awaits its freedom from hunger, war, oppression, violence, persecution and suffering. We all await our redemption. Advent challenges us to look at the ways that we wait, the ways that we long for God, and the ways that we hope. What and who is the source of our Advent hope?

John the Baptist's life can be summed up in the image of a finger pointing to the one who was coming: Jesus Christ. If we are to take on John's role of preparing the way in today's world, our lives also will become the pointing fingers of living witnesses who demonstrate that Jesus can be found and that he is near. Jesus is the fulfillment of our longing, our hoping and waiting. Jesus alone can transform the deserts of our lives into living gardens of beauty and nourishment for the world. Come, Lord Jesus! We need you now more than ever!

Perpetual Adoration Chapel

Advent reflection by BISHOP ROBERT BARRON:

Advent is the great liturgical season of vigilance, of waiting and watching... What practically can we do during this season of vigil keeping? What are some practices that might incarnate for us the Advent spirituality? I strongly recommend the classically Catholic discipline of Eucharistic adoration. To spend a half hour or an hour in the presence of the Lord is not to accomplish or achieve very much—it is not really "getting" anywhere—but it is a particularly rich form of spiritual waiting.

As you keep vigil before the Blessed Sacrament, bring to Christ some problem or dilemma that you have been fretting over, and then say: "Lord, I'm waiting for you to solve this, to show me the way out, the way forward. I've been running, planning, worrying, but now I'm going to let you work." Then, throughout Advent, watch attentively for signs. Also, when you pray before the Eucharist, allow your desire for the things of God to intensify; allow your heart and soul to expand. Pray, "Lord, make me ready to receive the gifts you want to give," or even, "Lord Jesus, surprise me."

Hours in need of a weekly adorer:

Sunday, 1:00am-2:00am      Tuesday, Midnight-1:00am
